BOHO DRESSES

→ ANY WOMAN who fancies herself a modern lady of the canyon will swoon over the fringed, feathered, and crystal-encrusted pieces at PEARL DROP boutique in Venice. Owner and fashion designer Jennifer Nicholson (Jack's daughter) has outfitted the shop to resemble an underwater treasure chest, a place where mermaids might keep their most prized possessions. Among the booty are Unicorn Airlines headdresses, Jacquie Aiche medicine bag necklaces, hand-blended fragrances from Sanae Intoxicants, and scores of flowy frocks. The most coveted items are the mini- and maxidresses and caftans by L.A.-based Cheyann Benedict, in naturally dyed silk georgette. » 1629 Abbot Kinney Blvd., Venice, 310-399-1304 or pearldropvenice.com.

WEDGE SHOES

→ IT SEEMS A BIT unfair to focus only on the footwear at KOI when the place has so much to offer: eclectic clothing, jewelry, and furniture. Nonetheless, for stylish alternatives to high heels, there's no more varied array of wedgies—in just about every hue and height—than at this South Pasadena shop. Owner Linda Davis carries a host of labels, so whether your taste leans to the fashionable (Jeffrey Campbell) or the funky (Antelope),

“Recently I visited Bolivia and Peru and was inspired by Peruvian bowler hats, which are really round and high. Pharrell Williams actually requested that I make him one of these. He helps and supports the hat business.”
